The Scene of Monday's Accident Attracting Thousands of Curious Sight-Seers.

Official Report Reducing the Number of Killed and Increasing the List of Injured

Beginning of an Investigation to Ascertain, If Possible, the Cause of the Accident

The Day After the Accident BOSTON, March 15 -The terrible catas trophe on the Boston & Providence road yesterday is still the tops of onversa tion in the household, on the streets and in the places of business. The same remark is upon everybody's lips—'It's fent ful,' "It's terrible.' The saddest scenes of all are those which present themselves in and about the residences where lie the mutilated remains of loved ones is hanging from many door knobs in Dedham, Salem and Wis Roybury To-day the people seem to realize the horror connected with the catastrophe more than they did vesterday then att sympathy is unbounded and the horrid reality seems to make itself more appar ent to them The scenes this morning about the u reck were snimsted Although the air was cold and raw, and a snow atorm prevailed, several hundred people put in an appear ance to look at what remained of the March 7. -We are having a very pleasant time at this place, and our old Decator friends who are here are very kind indoing all in their power to make it pleasant for us. This very especially true of Maj. E. O. Smith and family to whom we were put under a thousand obligations for kindnesses shown. I think the Santa Clara valley one of the most charming and beantiful I have yet seen, and when the immense orchards of cherries, apri-cots, peaches, prunes plums, &c., are in bloom and in fruit, it must be perfectly lovely, and I can hardly get my consent to leave without seeing it. Yet unless I hurry home I may lose the opportunity of seeing our own country in its softest dress. We go from here to Monterey, then to San Francisco, getting there on the 24th and expect to start home on the has wife for maheious mischief will be the 24th and expect to start home on the 4th prox. > On the 18th of March, 1832, I landed n Decatur. The old settlers are becoming very much thinned out. I can call to mind but the following names who were living in the village when I arrived here, namely: Mrs. Capt. D. L. Allen, Mrs. Col. I. C. Pugh, Mrs. James Querry, Mrs. Dr. Joseph King, Mrs. Wm. J. Condell, and Mr. Silas Packard, the three last named were children then, their father having died the year before.

One of the largest houses that ever greeted any actor in Atlanta was out to hear Charles Davis last night. The play is one of the best ever seen here, in fact nearly everyone says it is the finest of its kind. From the beginning to the end the house was kept laughing, and each and everyone was high in their praise of the play and of Davis. Charles Davis, as Alvin Joslin, is a typical countryman, and in this role has no superior, if any equal. He plays the role for all it is worth and this explains his success. EDS. REPUBLICAN: Few experiences are more delightful than to pass from the north to the south at this season. If anything can cheer the spirits and rest the body, this can. The change is at once magical and delightful; the soft, beautiful atmosphere fills one with the spirit of repose and rest. Mobile, where we tarried for a day, is a quaint old city; it is unmistakably southern. No one is in a hurry; everybody seems to have plenty of time. The drive down the "Shull road" is a delightful one, and is enjoyed by all visitors; the road runs along the bluff, giving one a commanding view of the bay, which is 16 miles wide at this point. The population of the city has fallen off some of late years, owing to the partial loss of its cotton trade. The ride of 140 miles from Mobile to

New Orleans is the most enjoyable part of the railroad journey south. Much of the distance the road passes in sight of the Gulf of Mexico, and frequently it passes over long arms of the Gulf which ever and anon indent the land, giving a good, and their prices are high. The system of street railways is the best in Union, all lines starting from one point and going into the most desirable parts of the city and in every direction. The city is divided into the French and American portions, nearly one-half of the population being French. It is the most cosmopolitan city I was ever in. The Roman Catholic religion predom-

In point of architecture New Orleans is a happy surprise to us. St. Charles street in the American quarter is one of the finest of boulevards. A large number of the elegant residences that line the ave-

To sit beneuth the cool of the trees, now in full leaf, and listen to the hum of the bees and the song of the birds has been inspiration. This should be called the city of roses. THE DEAD PASTOR Storles About the Rev. Henry

YORK, March 14 -The newspapers will be full of stories about Henry Ward Beechet for week. Here is one he once told of himself. At one time the faculty decided or minus it. At one time the faculty decided that the religious tone of the Amherst college, where he studied, needed to be raised, and resolved upon a visitation of the students resolved upon a visitation of the students in then room for that purpose. One day he saw Profesor Burgess, an immensely tall man, making his way up stairs toward his (Beecher's) room, and, anticipating a visit from him, he hustled all his chairs but one, the legs of which had been shortened one-half, into his wood cleant. Steated with a book on legs of which had been shortened one-half, into his wood closet. Seated with a book, on his low chair, he hade the professor come in, and of course proffered him the seat. Backing up before it, the tall professor stooped and began sounding for it, and at length succeeded in touching bottom and settled down, bringing his knees quite up into his face and presenting alterether a very comical aspect. pringing in successful and proposed in presenting altogether a very comical aspect. For himself appressing his reabilities with an iron native. Mr Beecher said he stood and muckly awaited the expected homily. But the protessor, under the expected homily. But the protessor, under the circumstances, proved unequal to it and after a moment's inspection of his knees burst into a loud laugh, in which Beccher heartily joined him, and, with the termink that he believed he would call again it struggled to a perpendicular and cares and enterprises, has gone into the bee business in the same manner in which it exfor a debating society. Men and women learn all sorts of things nowadays, but they do not seem to think of applying what they have perments in the propagation of seeds, the breeding of tishes and other work of benefit to large classes of our people. At present exlearned, or at least what they have over taught, to the circumstances of every day life. We study equations and the calculus, but we have not learned to number our houses so that they can be seen, even in bload daylight. perimental agriculture on the part of the napermental agriculture on the part of the return all government is in its infancy, no step having been taken in this direction until June 11 1885. On that duy, through the efforts of Dr. C. D. Ricey, the United States entomologist, an experiment station was established at this place and Mr. Nelson W. M. Langeround directions agent in charge. The We talk about ventilation, but we shut our selves up in furnace heated houses or stove heated rooms, cement cracks or crevices that tablished at this piace and Mr Neison W. McLain appointed the agent in charge. The reason or this action on the part of the general government was the fact that the United States has been a very large importer of sweets from foreign countries, importing in 1881 alone, mainly from France and Germany 801 500 000 worth. This was an imdmit a breath of fresh an, and discuss the latest scientific developments in sanitation in rooms that are filled with atmospheric malaria Our street cars and public buildings nitting it from outside but by opening winmany *'81 5(8) (0)0 worth This was an im many $35.500.000 worth. This was an immense sun to pay for that, a large portion of which could not as well have been taken from the millions of blossoms of honey producing flora with which our fields and prairies are to nervous and sensitive people

The Nineteenth Century club of New York, the latest exponent and collective represen-tative of modern thought and culture, asks for "evening dress," upon its calds of brightened Knowing that honey is a sub-stitute for nearly every kind of sweet, from nvitation, from women, to whom evening dress means the lowest of low necked bodices and no sleeves at all. This in a public art the manufacture of confections and pastry making vinegar and preserving meats, the government entomologist resolved to assist in the development of the bee industry among gallery where the meetings are hild which will hold 700 or 800 people, and where the only means of ventilation which has even been tried is that of laboriously and with much the bee keepers of the country noise opening great shiding windows, which pour in a perfect blast, and are then as labor

What the agent in charge of the experiment station in Aurora can do in this direction may e a problem to the unmittated, but his work keeps him as busy as a tree all of the time. It is a part of his duties to attend to the importation of foreign races of bees, find out their time value, and by judicious crossing develop a race peculiarly fitted to our climate and honey producing blossoms. How to treat diseases to which bees are subject has caused much study and the agent has me with great. much study, and the agent has met with grea success, so much so that hundreds of colonies were saved during the past year from conta gious diseases from which there has before been no immunity. Do bees injure fruit is a question which interests every one in the ountry who owns a grape vine A part of the experiments has been to establish the truth in regard to the matter and the agent de clares that the little creatures are innotent of all the destructiveness popularly had at their door Wintering beek experiments in introducing into winter food attractive property food elements which are sanitary science, attend courses of actuary thygiene, know Professor Huxley by heart experiments in introducing into which are it does not make a particle of difference, they obtained from nature in summer, the ventila obtained from nature in summer, the ventila tion of hives etc , all occupy a share of his attention. The main feature of study during the past year was to control the fertilization of bees. How to keep the stock pure after costly queens have been introduced into the country is a problem which heretofore the beckeeper has been unable to solve but after much experiment the agent has found a method of tertilizing the queens artificially which is indeed a wonderful discovery. An other unportant subject for investigation is What are the best plants for honey producing purposes, and how can the hone; making season be prolonged: To aid in this work a large garden will be connected with the station during the coming year if the amount of the appropriation by congress warrants it The United States produces with its $,000, 100 relemies of bees 120 000,000 pounds of bone, annually, valued at $18 000,000, and $1 000 000 worth of wax, yet not more than 5 per cent of those favorably situated for the ultivation of bees are engaged in that pursituated would engage in the excupation the noduct would not fall short of $75 000,000 or $50 (000,000 m value. The United States should become an exporter and not an importer of sweets. The apparents of the coun try have manifested a keen appreciation o the interest the government has taken in th industry and the results obtained are gratifying both to them and to the officers of the department. The report of the agent in charge of this station is each year included in the report of the United States entomologist which forms a part of the report of the commissioner of agriculture. Any one interested in the work can seeme the report by applying to the congressman representing his district Charles P Buston
